Intro: Em G C G Am G C D Am G C D G

G                      Em                      G C                      G              Am
When lights go down I see no reason      for you to cry

G                      C              D              D                      Em                      G C
We've been thro' this before      in every time      in every season

G              Am              G                      C              D
God knows I've tried      so please don't ask for more

C                      D                      C                      Am              D              C D
Can't you see it in my eyes      Well this might be our last goodbye

G              D              Em                      D              C D Em
Carrie      carrie things they change my friend      Carrie      carrie

Dsus4              D              Am                      G C                      G
maybe we'll meet      again      somewhere      again

verse 2:

I read your mind, with no intentions
Of being unkind, I wish I could explain
It all takes time, a whole lot of patience
If it's a crime, how come i feel no pain
Can't you see it in my eyes
This might be our last goodbye.
